

NINE, STREET FURNITURE OF A NEW GENERATION

The Nine bench consists of 9 wooden slats of which 3 slats go down to the floor to shape the legs. The bench seduces not only by its modern and outstanding design, but also by its adaptability: the bench is decorated with sliding or fixed backrests in transparent thermoplastic material (polymethyl methacrylate), bringing originality and elegance.

Nine stands out in public spaces with its fine look, sculptural design and obvious elegance. German landscape architect Michael Hennemann and Sineu Graff created a bench with sliding backrests and different options.

A WORK OF ART FOR ALL SPACES

The seat, the lounger and the short bench complete the Nine range. Nine, as comfortable furniture, has a strong capacity for integration into the urban landscape, a major concern for Michael Hennemann. For a perfect aesthetic, options are available: a shelf for the seat and a headrest for the lounger.
